

LEVATOR PEOPLE

Any working-day, in any city's large office building, people are busily intent in the pursuit of their own daily activities. The lobby of a skyscraper has an almost endless flow of employees—from secretaries to company presidents, as well as outside salesmen and other visitors. The steady procession, the ebb and flow—like life itself—sometimes appears perpetual and endless. Especially at the elevators.

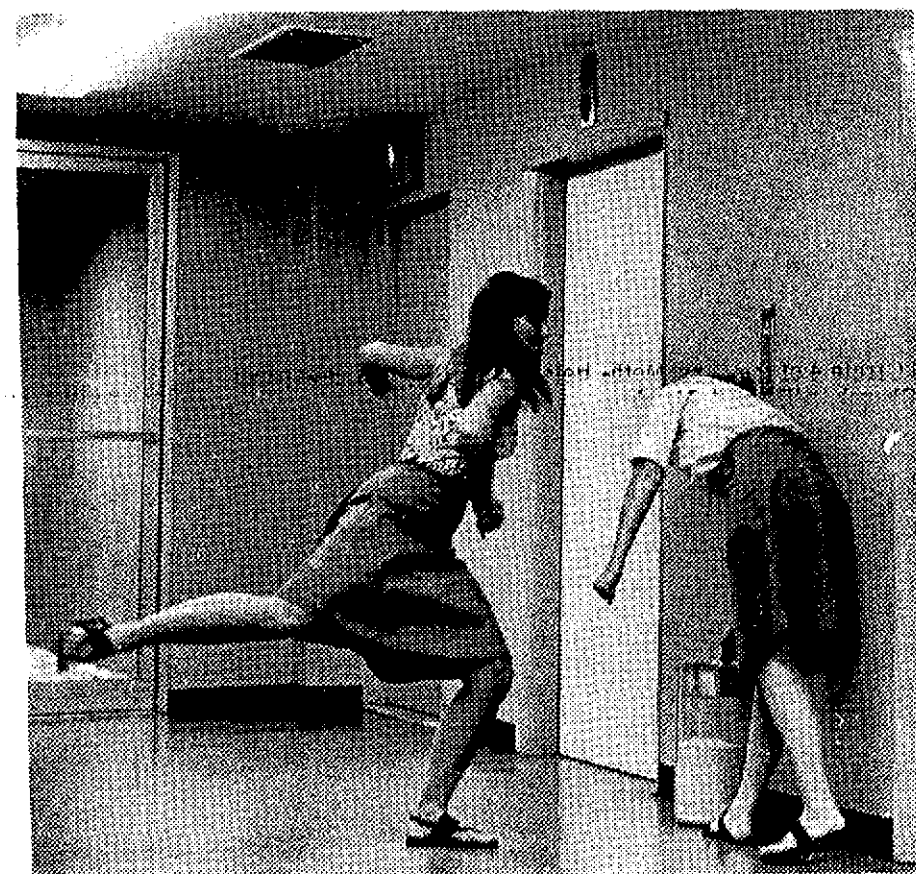

A photographer was interested in quietly observing the passing parade. Marcia Kay Keegan recently stationed herself in a corner of the lobby of an office building in New York City, and unobtrusively recorded her observations.

Most of the "subjects" didn't notice the camera, and were caught with their thoughts showing. Some, like the shoe-shine entrepreneur, is too weary to care. As for the messenger boy juggling all-too-many parcels, his precarious balancing act keeps him too busy to worry about pictures. And the workman proudly displaying his potted-plant assignment appears only to be thinking of going-home time. The seam-straightener is, of course, as normal as nylons (with seams).

Some noticed they were being photographed, and showed-off their actions, as well as their thought-responses to the camera. Like the playful female "place-kicker". Or the surprise of the gal greeted by her own Irish Setter. Or the intentness of the shoe-inspector.

Waiting for an elevator can be a moment for animated conversation, or a moment for quiet contemplation. For others: the time to meet and greet friends; to "rehearse" for an anticipated interview (or asking for a Saturday-night-date); or organizing one's thoughts...

Watching people can really be fun. And, often, watching the watcher is fun.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

SHE'S BUGGED BY PARENTS
Dear Helen: What do you say to parents who bug the phones in your house?

First my parents just eavesdropped, and now they have the tape recorder hooked to the phone in some way so when I'm talking to my friends or boyfriend they switch it on and record my conversations!

I'm not dreaming this up,

Helen, as I overheard them talking and I know where they have hidden the microphone. They don't know I know, so should I lead them on, keep it a secret or what? — FED UP

Dear F. U.: First question: just what have you done to bug your parents into bugging you? They've either got to be the snoopiest people in the world — or the most frightened.

Then — talk it out, and if you can't manage it face-to-face, make a recording. — H.

Dear Helen: It started last May when he asked me to a dance. I accepted. But told my parents I was going elsewhere. I was to meet this boy at a certain place, but before I left my house, I confessed to my parents. They were shocked and wouldn't let me go. So it's understood that I stood him up. right?

I wrote and explained why I didn't meet him, but I didn't tell the truth — just said it was "unavoidable."

It's now two months into school and I pass him every day, but he acts as if I don't exist. I've been tempted to say "Hi" but can't get the words out of my mouth.

What can I do to become friends again? — UNHAPPY

Dear UNHAPPY: Why not write another letter and this time remember truth got you grounded, so try "hair of the dog what bit you." Tell him just exactly why you couldn't keep the date and I think you'll soon be "Hi" on his list again. — H.

Dear Helen: I've known "Cutie" (that's what we call each other) together to work, and spent an hour on the bus each day, kidding around together. We insulted each other, listened to our and generally enjoyed having a good friend, but really, this is all I ever considered him — until I had to change jobs and no longer take the bus.

Well, I don't see him any more now. The question is, how come I can't sleep nights, I toss and turn and his picture comes to my mind. I'm always thinking about him. I can't eat much. I daydream. I miss him. I watch the clock. I worry that now I've lost him. All I know is that he isn't married, and he'll soon change jobs too, so maybe he'll not take the bus.

What's wrong with me, and what can I do about it? — PATSY

Dear Pat: Do you'll never know what's wrong with you until you see "Cutie" again and find out whether it's love or "wondering what might have been" that makes you sleepless.

Take another bus trip (surely you can make connections even though you've changed jobs) and this time don't let him get away without your telephone number.

What if he no longer takes the bus? Well, look here: never let it be said that HHU doesn't give it's ALL for romance! If both you and he read this item—

Better Homemaking

By AILEEN SNOBBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A material used by the ancient Egyptians to decorate their buildings is experiencing a revival in the home. This is ceramic tile and the term includes glazed wall tile, ceramic mosaics for floors and walls and quarry tile for floors.

Like so many building products for the home, ceramic tile is undergoing a metamorphosis. Sometime during the last 7,000 years ceramic tile became pale and wan in design and color when compared to its ancestors unearthed by archaeologists in royal tombs and cities.

In the United States a trend for many decades was for tile manufacturers to make only "safe" tiles in neutral, go-with-anything colors. However, the growing interest in better, more colorful design for home decorating is having its effect on this industry as it has had in the carpeting, drapery and upholstery fabrics and furniture fields.

A spokesman for the Tile Council of America explains how times have changed.

Take the matter of shape. Ceramic tiles do come in old-hat, square shape but now they are also available in triangular, rectangular, hexagonal shapes or contoured like the tiles of Moorish Spain. Such tiles allow a professional decorator or an amateur home designer to put together interesting patterns that spruce up an otherwise dull dining room, foyer floor or wall.

Some ceramic tiles remain flat but others are three-dimensional or flat with a three-dimensional effect when installed in a combination of shapes and colors.

The range of colors, too, has changed, the Tile Council expert continues. Even though pastels are popular, bright hues such as cobalt-blue and tenebrous-red are in demand. These are in step with the growing use of more color throughout the home. Larger-sized wall tiles, for example, have brightly colored surfaces. Many designs are recognizable, from abstract Chinese symbols to Currier & Ives prints or Delft designs. Glazes may be bright gloss or matte

IF IRRITATING INGREDIENTS in mascara have prevented you from wearing it, you can now purchase a water-soluble tablet of color. Apply this with a moistened brush. This product is hypo-allergenic and doesn't sting or smear. It gives your lashes a longer, fuller, silkier appearance.

FOOTLOOSE AND FANCY FREEWAY—Fred Gwynne, the reformed Munster, says that if nothing exciting happens to his career in the near future (another series or a big movie) he's going to pack up his family, sell his house and move back East—where he'll quit acting and concentrate on his painting.

Jane Morgan's opening in the Westside Room of the Century-Plaza our town's newest and nicest night spot drew a glamorous spangled crowd.

At one point, Jane peeled off her long, fur-trimmed white coat and, in a bare-midriff, sequined hip-hugger outfit, said, "Now I'm going to sing Sinatra's biggest hit of '66." Everybody expected "Strangers in the Night," but the song she sang was Nancy's "Boots."

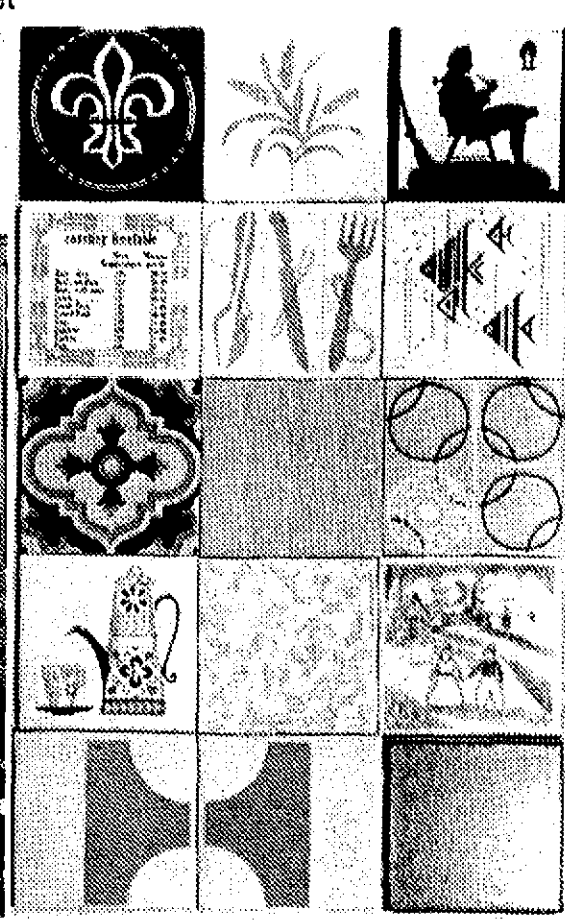

At the party afterwards, I was talking to Zsa Zsa Gabor and the pretty assistant to one of our leading women columnists.

"I love all your husbands," said the reporter.

"You do?" said Zsa Zsa. "You want one which one? I give him to you."

"I wish you could. But they like blondes." "You just bleach a little. Besides, who's really blonde?"

Costume designer Edith Head says she's enjoying her current assignment, designing the 1880-type outfits for Luciana Paluzzi to finish, or unglazed for the floor, and contribute to the overall design effect.

Behind the growing use of such tiles in the home is the boom in remodeling. This $15-billion-a-year business tends to focus attention, the Council says, on redoing a particular room and tile often is being used to perk up floors in living, dining and family rooms, bedrooms, dens and outside. Decorative murals as panels to break up a wall of windows or create an effective entrance to a home are becoming popular as the American homemaker wants more than ever to be surrounded by beauty.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The traffic jams that seem to be an insoluble problem on the streets of large metropolitan areas exist also in their crowded skies and on the runways of their airports.

NBC, in an hour special, "The Aviation Revolution," Monday night explored the problem but was unable to do much more than pinpoint the difficulties.

Public discussion of air safety is a touchy business. But for viewers who are nervous plane passengers there was considerable reassurance in the program as well as some cause for disquiet.

We saw the careful preliminary checks before take-off on a Paris-New York flight. We saw the way assorted ground control stations and nine ships stationed in the North Atlantic helped guide aircraft to their destinations. We were assured by experts about the built-in safety of commercial planes. We were told that airline pilots can buy life insurance at the same rate as desk-bound business men. But we were also alerted to wear opposite Rod Taylor in "Chuka." What makes it so enjoyable?

"In this style," Edith says, "every part of the woman is right where nature put it, for a change. And on Paluzzi, thank God, it looks good."

I noticed some pro-De Gaulle propaganda when I saw "Is Paris Burning?" at the premiere in Paris. Naturally, the version shown there was the French-language version, in which French subtitles are superimposed over the dialogue of the American actors, speaking English.

At one point, near the end, an American says, "It is over and we have won."

The subtitles read: "It is over. De Gaulle has won."

Kirk Douglas tells this story to illustrate the fringe benefits of stardom.

"I was in Yugoslavia once," he said, "and I wanted to meet Tito. They told me there wasn't a chance. But I said, 'Please try anyhow. Tell him an American actor named Kirk Douglas would like to meet him.'"

"Well, they called his office and right away he sent his private plane. My wife and I spent several delightful hours with him. He told me he sees one or possibly two movies every night. He said they relax him. He said he had long wanted to meet me."

"What other profession opens doors like that?"

Max Von Sydow says he approves of the lengthy, detailed childbirth scene in "Hawaii." In it, Von Sydow assists at the birth of his son, with Julie Andrews playing the mother.

"I think," he says, "that the idea of a husband assisting at the delivery of his child is a beautiful one."

"In fact, I will go on record as saying that husbands should do it, that I wish I had really done it with my own children but Swedish hospitals wouldn't even permit me in the delivery room."

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

NEW DANCE SWING COMING? Flinging feet and body around in rhythm is the oldest form of entertainment—and the newest. Today's "separate" dancing came in as a big change, pioneered by the young guys and gals . . . reached its peak on swinging teen television network dance and rhythm programs. Dance people with nimble minds (as well as feet) say they smell a new trend coming. Some say the unsettled psychological atmosphere of the world will drive dance fashions into getting wilder, freer, more alone. But most see the long chain of waltzing, monkeying, frugging reaching its last links. When it breaks there'll be a change over to guy and girl dancing together again. But, because you want the big beat, like that music to hammer hard and strong, this "touch" dancing will be no papa-mama smooth fox trot . . . it'll jump out in a new form. Dance master, Killer Joe Piro, pacesetter in the dance-forming discotheques, tells YOUTH BEAT: "I've noticed a change already. When the beat slows, young people stop frugging. But, today they don't just walk off the floor . . . they reach for each other, frequently fall into cheek-to-cheek. It's a new kind of ready-to-breakaway touch dancing . . . swell and free with rhythm and blues . . . youth even tangos to it. It'll spread from the night clubs to the whole country."

THE SHRIMP IS OUT, THE TWIG IS IN: The latest London reports are that a 17-year-old, lathlike cockney lass named Twigg is replacing Jean Shrimpton who was considered—till three weeks ago—the best and richest model in the world. Twigg, only launched in February, soon after was featured on the covers of the chic French magazines—and now pulls in $200 a day as top British model. The daughter of a television workman, she happily drops her aitches, like Lisa Doltile in "My Fair Lady," and says she's afraid to come to the U.S. to pose for Vogue "because I'd miss my mum." Blimey! But, sooner or later, she'll hit our magazines. Twigg, a blonde-topped 5-7, who's thin as a pin, zoomed from nowhere like a fashion rocket, just when it was predicted that the day of the string bean offbeat model was over. How did she make it? Easy. Fellow named Justin De Villeneuve, an unsuccessful hairdresser, got the idea when he met her, aged 16—now he's a swinging success as her business manager.

WHO'S TODAY'S TOP SCROOGE?—YOU: Parents, poor things, can't compare today with their teen-aged offspring as savers, banking authorities report. No longer are those way post-teens, the middle-aged, hard-working man and his thrifty wife the penny-pinching champs of savings account deposits. You are—three-fourths of all teen-agers unashamedly own savings accounts . . . among the 16- to 19-year-olds 82 per cent do. Fabulous fact!—teen girls are the best savers . . . since 83 per cent of them save versus 75 per cent of the men. What are you so busy saving for? That's your business. But studies do show that most of you are saving for college.

UH-UH, YOU DON'T RUN THE COUNTRY: Though you save and spend oodles of dollars, set the pace in music, dancing and popular entertainment, and are the taste-makers for newest clothes and fashions, etc., etc., the oldsters fighting back state THEY are "in command." Statistics show that THEY "in command" means the generation leery of identifying itself by its years—the middle-aged. These middle-agedsters total 43 million—they proclaim they still hold the big positions, earn the most bread, pay most of the bills, and make the most decisions, countrywide. One investigator, Professor Milton R. Stern of the University of Michigan Adult Education Center, points out that youth only seems to dominate—because of all of its activity. He summarizes: "To the extent that people in their middle years have defaulted their responsibility, the young may feel obliged to take care of themselves. But, whatever they do, they are simply rebels—never in command." O.K., rebels, the day will come when you're middle-aged and "in command."

THE DIFFICULTIES OF AIR TRAFFIC CONTROL and the men who run them. Their main job is to keep two planes from running into each other and to get all planes safely out of the air. It is a tense job that showed on their faces as we saw them operating in the busy New York airport, an area traversed by more than 3,000 planes daily and where planes land at rush hours at 15-second intervals.

The program also took up the problems of finding land for additional jet ports, and of the jet noise problems, including the sonic booms of "jumbo jets," holding perhaps 1,000 passengers, of the future.

The latest national Nielsen ratings, covering the two weeks ending Oct. 23, were released Monday and established that the public likes its old favorites better than the crop of new shows.

The most popular show of the period was a CBS special, "Friends and Neighbors," with NBC's "Bonanza" and a Bob Hope comedy show in second and third places.

Other programs in the Nielsen top 10 were CBS' Andy Griffith Show, Red Skelton Show, Lucy Show, Beverly Hillsbillies and Jackie Gleason Show, NBC's Walt Disney Hour and CBS' Friday night reruns of old movies.

All three networks will suspend regular programming to-night to cover election returns, starting at 7 p.m., EST, and continuing until the important races are determined.

Onions and garlic once were esteemed as potent fighters of disease in many countries, including colonial America.

Cary Grant is an "innocent" bystander as Samantha Eggar and Jim Hutton discuss Hutton's unexpected presence in Samantha's apartment. It's a scene from the new comedy, "Walk, Don't Run," a Columbia Pictures release in Panavision and Technicolor. "Walk, Don't Run" is a Granley Company presentation.

Saenger - Starts Wed.

HIGH SPIRITS are displayed by beautiful Ann-Margret and her handsome co-star Tony Franciosa in "The Swinger," a Technicolor production for Paramount Pictures. "The Swinger" gives you the lowdown on what really goes on behind the doors of those "girlie" magazines and has dance, color, and sexy Ann-Margret.

Better Not Jump
Any earthling who landed on either of the two tiny moons of the planet Mars would weigh less than an ounce because of the low surface gravity, and the slightest jump would send him soaring off into space.

NEW SERVICE
NEW DELHI (AP) - India has inaugurated a coaxial cable link between New Delhi, Bombay and Calcutta, providing the first such link between these major cities. Direct telephone dialing between these and other cities along the line will now be possible.

BUILDS CHARACTER

If A
Man
Prays

have

Can
He Live
Wrong?

... More on the Golden Rule. How big is it? What will it do for a man? Just how far does it reach? Well, all major religions support it, and all ethical teachers of the ages confirm it. But Mr., it is a personal thing and consequently, it is only as big as you. Are you a good citizen, a good neighbor, a good American, a good Christian? These questions are asked with my own happiness and welfare in mind. You will treat me as you treat all others.

Your character reflects your opinion of the Golden Rule. The title words, "Have Them," narrows our thinking but at the same time calls us to universal interest.

Why should men stop to minister to others, especially, if I am one of them? A thorough, personal appreciation of the Golden Rule, will make of you a man fit to die, and will reward you with all that is eternal.

More on the Golden Rule next week.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

SPONSORS BELOW SHARE THE INVITATION AND COST OF THIS PAGE. THEY URGE YOU AND YOUR FAMILY TO ATTEND CHURCH.

RONALD REAGAN and his wife, Nancy, were all smiles after casting their ballots in Pacific Palisades, Calif., and they were even happier after all the votes had been counted as Republican Reagan beat incumbent Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown to become a leading figure in Republican plans for the future.

major, for example, should perform work on a higher level of difficulty than would be assigned a sophomore. Often such work is a direct steppingstone to the student's postgraduate life.

According to Dr. Adams, such programs can "also provide the student with a testing ground prior to graduation and the assuming of a definite vocation. There is no better time than during undergraduate years to correct any mistaken ideas about a chosen vocation."

Some examples of the types of part-time student jobs falling under the EOA are:

Artist-Illustrator—Illustrates, drafts, and does layout work for campus newspapers or institutional posters, graphs and charts.

Editor (college paper)—Traditionally a nonpaying honor, editors and staffers who meet EOA specifications may be eligible for work-study grants regardless of colleges previous policy in this matter.

Instructional Assistant (computer)—Student assists instructor, gives instruction in operation of IBM equipment, computer programming and board writing.

Language Translator—Under direction of full-time staff employee, the student translates foreign language material into English and types the transcriptions.

Psychometric Assistant (Psychology and Sociology Departments)—Student administers individual and group tests, scores examinations and completes test profiles.

Statistical Research Worker—Aids faculty members in analysis of department research data and assists in writing and editing of research reports.

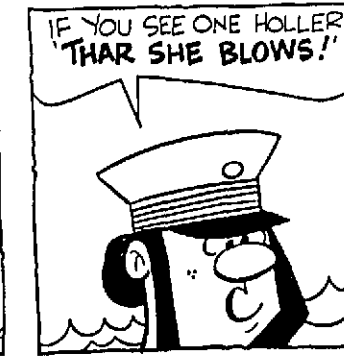

Teacher's Aide (Engineering)—Assists with demonstrations, leads discussions of review material and prepares equipment for laboratory use.

It's true, at present, that the EOA benefits lower income students only. Nevertheless, the work-study concept may well cause educators to re-think their positions. Indeed, the work-study programs of the Economic Opportunities Act may be only one indication that in the future the college experience and the vocational experience will be two sides of the same coin.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Golly, Gee, Miss America Suffers from Diastema

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jane Anne Jayroe, the new Miss America, is a beautiful girl. But have you heard? She has diastema. Diastema means spaces between front teeth, and pictures of Miss America, 1967, reveal a space between two upper front teeth.

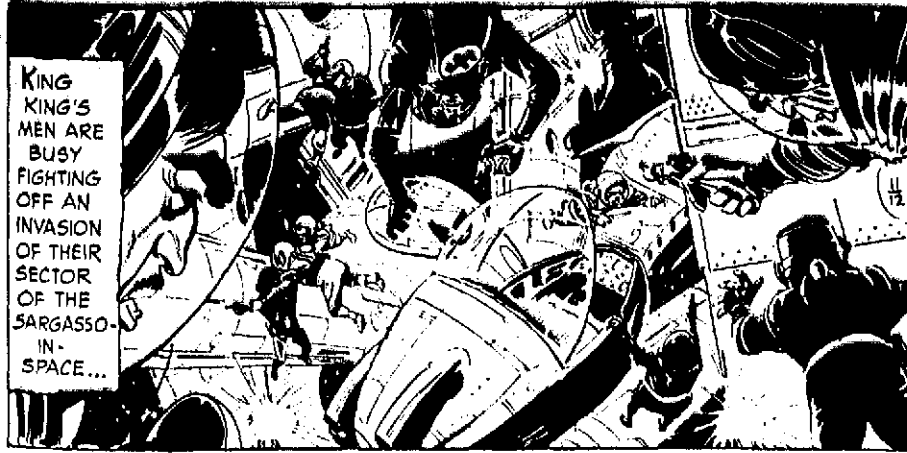

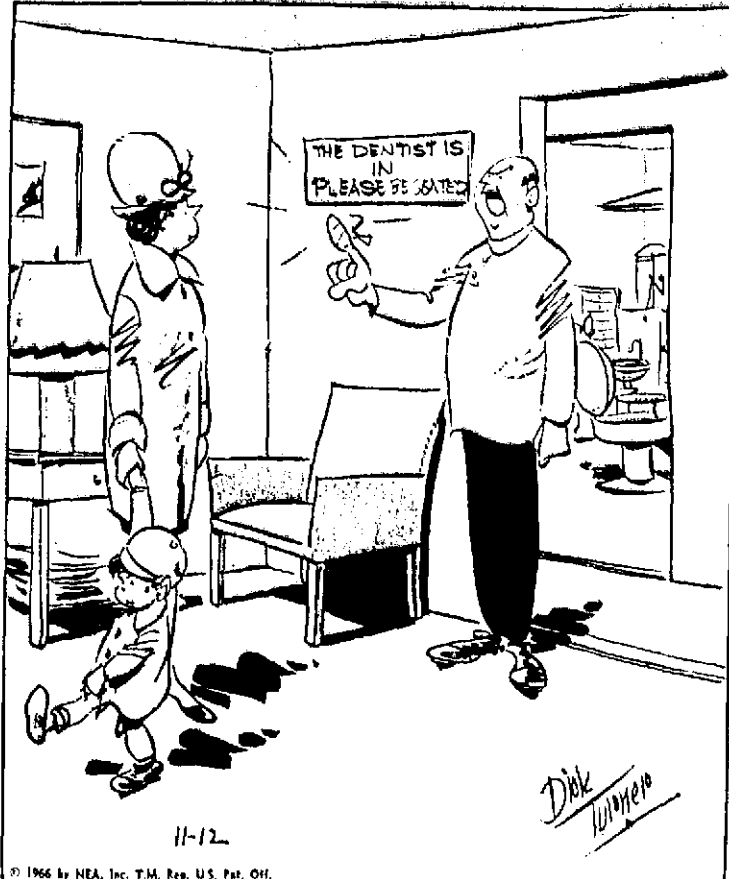

Obviously this hasn't been even a mild deterrent to Miss Jayroe. She'll hardly be remembered as "the girl with the diastema." She's much too attractive and talented.

It's mentioned merely to dramatize this condition and to say to all of you similarly afflicted, don't despair. You may not be chosen Miss America, but your diastema can be corrected. Indeed, if spaces disturb speech or tend to be a cosmetic embarrassment, correction should be made.

Causes of diastema have a bearing on choice of treatment or no treatment. In young people whose jaws are in the development stage, spaces may be a phase of that development. By the time all teeth have come into place, and jaws fully grown, spaces will have closed.

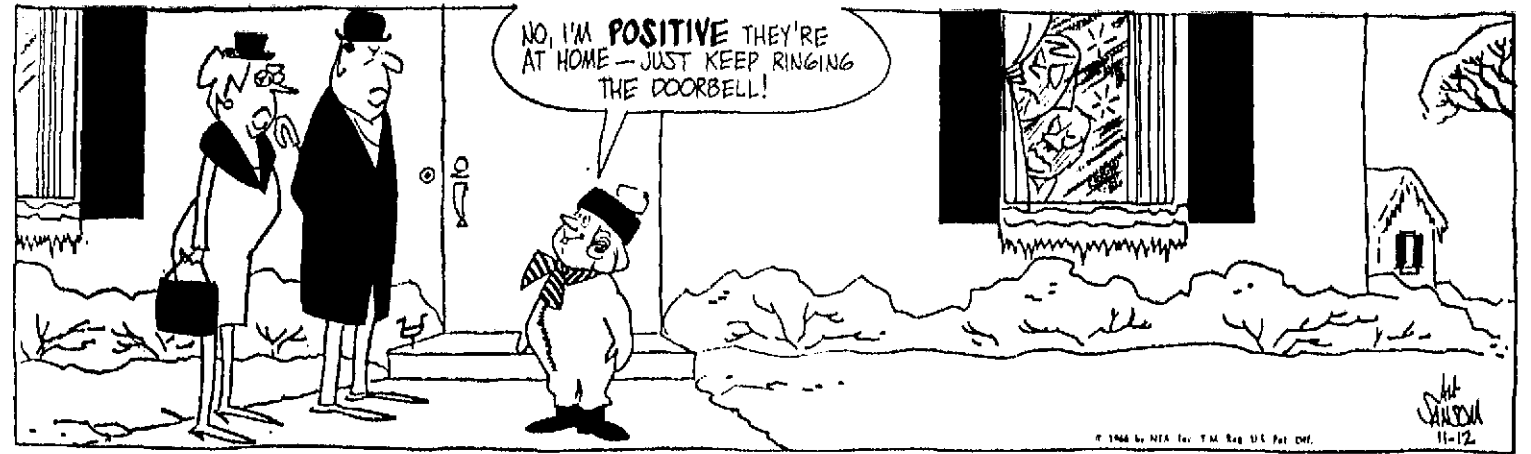

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Duplicate Expert Adds One Trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a match point duplicate game the chances are that every South player of today's hand will get to three no-trump and go after the diamond suit by playing the king and then leading toward dummy for a finesse. West would show out and eventually declarer would go down one or two tricks depending on whether or not he would try the club finesse.

The average rubber bridge player would probably go down but an expert duplicate game would probably make four no-trump.

He would win the first heart in his own hand, lead a diamond to dummy's ace and a second diamond back toward his king-nine. He would plan to rise with the king in the event that East showed out or played the queen or ten. Assuming East did play low expert South would play his nine. Then he would cash his king; return to dummy with the ace of spades and give East his queen of diamonds.

This line of play would guarantee four diamond tricks against anything except a 5-0 diamond break. Four diamonds plus two spades, two hearts and a club adds to nine tricks.

How would expert South make an overtrick? East would probably lead a second heart when he got in with the queen of diamonds. South would have discarded a spade on the fourth diamond. He would discard another spade on the fifth. He then would cash his ace of spades and be left with the nine of hearts and ace-queen-small of clubs. Assuming West had held two clubs, South just might end play him by leading the nine of hearts.

Bobcats Lose To Nashville By 26 to 7

By Larry Don Wright
Hope Star SportsWriter

The Nashville Scrappers came up with the big plays and were able to take advantage of all the breaks in an explosive second half comeback that gave them a 26-7 decision over the Hope Bobcats at Nashville last night.

The Bobcats scored first late in the initial quarter of a contest to a defensive struggle. The Cats still commanded a slim one-point margin entering the second half of play.

The Scrappers got on the board again with just seconds remaining in the scoreless third period on a 47-yard pass play. That was all they needed as all the fourth quarter breaks went their way. The Scrappers got two last period tallies by way of a long punt return and later after blocking a Hope punt.

For the Bobcats who played their last game of the 1968 season last night the outcome was a bit disappointing since they could never seem to get the breaks despite leading the Scrappers convincingly in total offense statistics. The loss sent Hope's season record to an even 5-5 while Nashville boosted its win-loss mark to an impressive 9-1 overall.

The two teams exchanged a pair of punts apiece through the first quarter placing the Bobcats with a first down at their own one-yard line with just over 3 minutes remaining in the quarter. On that play, halfback Jerry Don McWilliams broke off left tackle and back up field for a 96-yard jaunt. It looked as if he would make it all the way for the score, as he sprinted down the sidelines with end Johnny Lowe along side to block. However none saw Scrapper halfback James Turley coming up from behind. Turley pulled McWilliams down from behind at the Nashville three yard line. Two plays later quarterback Buzz Andrews squeezed it across from the one for the first points of the game. End Luther Shaw kicked the PAT to make the score Hope 7, Nashville 0, with only 2:19 left in the first stanza of play.

But the Scrappers wasted no time in narrowing the margin as Turley returned the Bobcat kickoff 81 yards to the Hope two-yard line before being caught by linebacker Freddie Easterling.

The Scrappers used three plays to take it in with Turley getting the call from a yard away. Bubba Wallis's boot for the PAT was wide to the left as the Bobcats held a slight lead after the first quarter. The only penetrations of the second period were by Hope but both were terminated by blocked field goal attempts.

The third quarter passed much as the first two had, with off-setting defensive efforts, and it appeared late in the third period that Hope might possibly emerge the victor by way of Shaw's PAT which kept the Cats out front by one point. Then with only 34 seconds left in that quarter, QB Randy Peek hit halfback Keith Strawn on a pass over the middle for 47 yards and the go-ahead points for Nashville. Wallis booted this extra point good to put the Scrappers ahead by the score of 13-7 entering the final chapter. The Bobcats still couldn't mount a serious drive and with less than six minutes left in the game were forced to punt from their own 9. Easterling's kick was taken by Strawn at the Hope 40 and the Scrapper safety was off and running down the sidelines behind good blocking for another Nashville score. Wallis again connected on the PAT as the score read, Nashville 20, Hope 7, with only 5:33 showing on the clock.

The Cats still couldn't get anything going and soon found themselves faced with another punting situation at their own 30. This time Easterling's punt was blocked by big Scrapper lineman Jim Dixon. Nashville took possession at the Bobcat 11 yard line and four plays later it was Turley again for the score on a one-yard dive with 3:55 left. Wallis's boot was off to the right but the Scrappers had clinched the victory by the score of 26 to 7.

McWilliams led Hope in individual rushing with 11 carries for a total of 117 yards. Andrews totaled 71 yards in 15 carries followed by Easterling with 28 in 9 trips and Mickey Allen 24 yards in 9 carries.

GAME AT A GLANCE:
Nashville got 9 first downs to Hope's 7; gained 103 yards passing to the Bobcat's 19; Hope gained 230 yards rushing to the Scrappers 85 and completed 2 passes in 5 attempts while the Scrappers completed 3 of 11. Final Score: Nashville 26, Hope 7.

Trimble Offers Aid to Hammerschmidt

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rep. J. W. Trimble, D-Ark., sent congratulations Thursday to Republican John Paul Hammerschmidt of Harrison, who defeated him in Tuesday's general election.

"It was a fine win for you," Trimble said in a telegram. "Please call on me if I may be of any help at all in your new work."

Trimble said that unless he changed his plans "I'm coming home and go back to the farm—that is where we live."

Trimble was seeking a 12th term.

Diamond of 106 Carats Found

MOSCOW (AP)—A 106-carat diamond, the biggest in the history of the Soviet diamond industry, has been found in the eastern Siberian republic of Yakutsk, the Soviet news agency Tass said today. The world's largest diamond, the Cullinan, was found in 1905 in South Africa. It weighed 3,106 carats or about 1 1/3 pounds.

LBJ At Ranch To Rest For Operation

By FRANCES LEWINE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson promised to have a quiet weekend at his Texas ranch after a flurry of conferences with key advisers on topics ranging from the new budget and his State of the Union message to reports on possible peace moves.

His latest visitor Friday was roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, back from an 11-nation tour with hopes "something may come" of forthcoming British-Soviet talks on Viet Nam. Harriman termed a scheduled Nov. 21-23 meeting of British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Soviet leaders "the most promising" of initiatives many nations are undertaking in an effort to launch peace moves.

The British and Russians are co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference that partitioned Viet Nam.

Harriman said: "The meeting of these two governments is a very important event. We are hopeful that something may come of it. It is impossible to predict, but at least the Soviet Union has considerable influence in Hanoi."

Johnson joined Harriman in another of a series of front lawn news conferences at his ranch. It was his sixth meeting with reporters since he came here last Friday to rest before surgery to remove a throat polyp and repair an incision hernia. A date for the surgery has not been announced.

The wife of former President Harry S. Truman telephoned the Johnsons Friday night to inquire about the President's health.

Both Johnson and Mrs. Johnson spoke to Mrs. Truman, who called from the Truman home in Independence, Mo., and after assuring Mrs. Truman the President was feeling fine, sent their best wishes to the former president.

Johnson told newsmen that since he has been at his ranch he has talked or met with every one of his Cabinet members and received reports from task forces preparing for his State of the Union message to the new 90th Congress.

After hearing from Harriman and jovially greeting reporters, the President advised: "We will have a quiet weekend and I will see you at church Sunday."

Johnson, asked about Pope Paul VI's latest plea for a Christmas truce, replied: "We are very anxious to always give consideration, and as sympathetic as possible to any suggestion the Pope gives, as we did last year. But we are also very anxious to have other people do likewise."

Funds Found to Pay Salaries

OTTAWA (AP)—With his appropriations bill for November stalled in a parliamentary impasse, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced unexpectedly Thursday night that his liberal government had discovered other funds to pay overdue salaries to thousands of federal employees and pay scores of government contractors.

Opposition Conservatives refuse to approve the $372-million appropriations bill until the Liberals agree to immediate committee hearings on their controversial plan to merge the three armed services. The Liberals said hearings would kill the merger.

Churchill Woman to Wed Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Lady Sarah Churchill Russell, 43, a cousin of the late Sir Winston Churchill, and Guillermo Burgos, 28, of the Burgos Art Galleries in New York, plan to marry within the next few days. Lady Sarah obtained a marriage license Thursday, listing her occupation as "housewife" on the application. The daughter of the Duke of Marlborough and granddaughter of the late Consuelo Vanderbilt was divorced last October from Edwin F. Russell, publisher of the Harrisburg, (Pa.) Patriot-News.

BALTIMORE, Md. (NEA)—Gary Cuzzo, perennial stand-in, no longer makes a secret of his unhappiness at playing shadow for Johnny Unitas. The Baltimore Colts will accommodate the sharp young quarterback and trade him after the season (unless Unitas gets hurt again). Most persistent rumor would send Cuzzo to the New York Giants. In return, they'd get draft rights to Florida's Steve Spurrier and maybe a big offensive lineman like Francis Peay.

Another reason the Colts could satisfy Cuzzo's desire to move on: they have still another quarterback in the wings, young Jim Ward of Gettysburg, a taxi squadder with a strong arm and fine running ability. . . . Ward was a baseball prospect who wouldn't even listen to major league offers because he decided football was his game.

Even though he's been a pro for 10 years, and an all-pro guard and tackle for almost all of those years, Jim Parker of the Colts still takes his cue as a performer from Raymond Berry, the inspirational split end who's the senior member of the team (12 years). Berry draws up Parker's list of resolutions before the season and he also prods him into special pregame drills, like practice at recovering fumbles. The 275-pound lineman knows it's time to quit when all the air goes out of the ball after he falls on it a few times.

Berry, one of the most dedicated performers in sports, has lightened his work load as he gets older. "Got to save myself," he says. "Catching passes for 25 minutes is plenty of practice. I wish I'd done it earlier. When I was young, I worked so hard, I used to go into a game tired."

The acclaim for tight ends still goes to the name players like Mike Ditka of the Bears, Ron Kramer of the Lions and Pete Retzlaff of the Eagles. But in Dick Bielski's book, no one in pro ball now even comes close to John Mackey of the Colts. Bielski could be a trifle partial, since he's one of Mackey's coaches. But as a player, Dick was also a tight end and knows the trade. "He grades out higher," says Dick, "than any other player on the team, and no one in the league can halfway match him as a blocker. He's devastating." . . . What's more, from his tight-end spot in the thick of line play, Mackey is also the Colts' leading receiver and their chief deep threat on long passes.

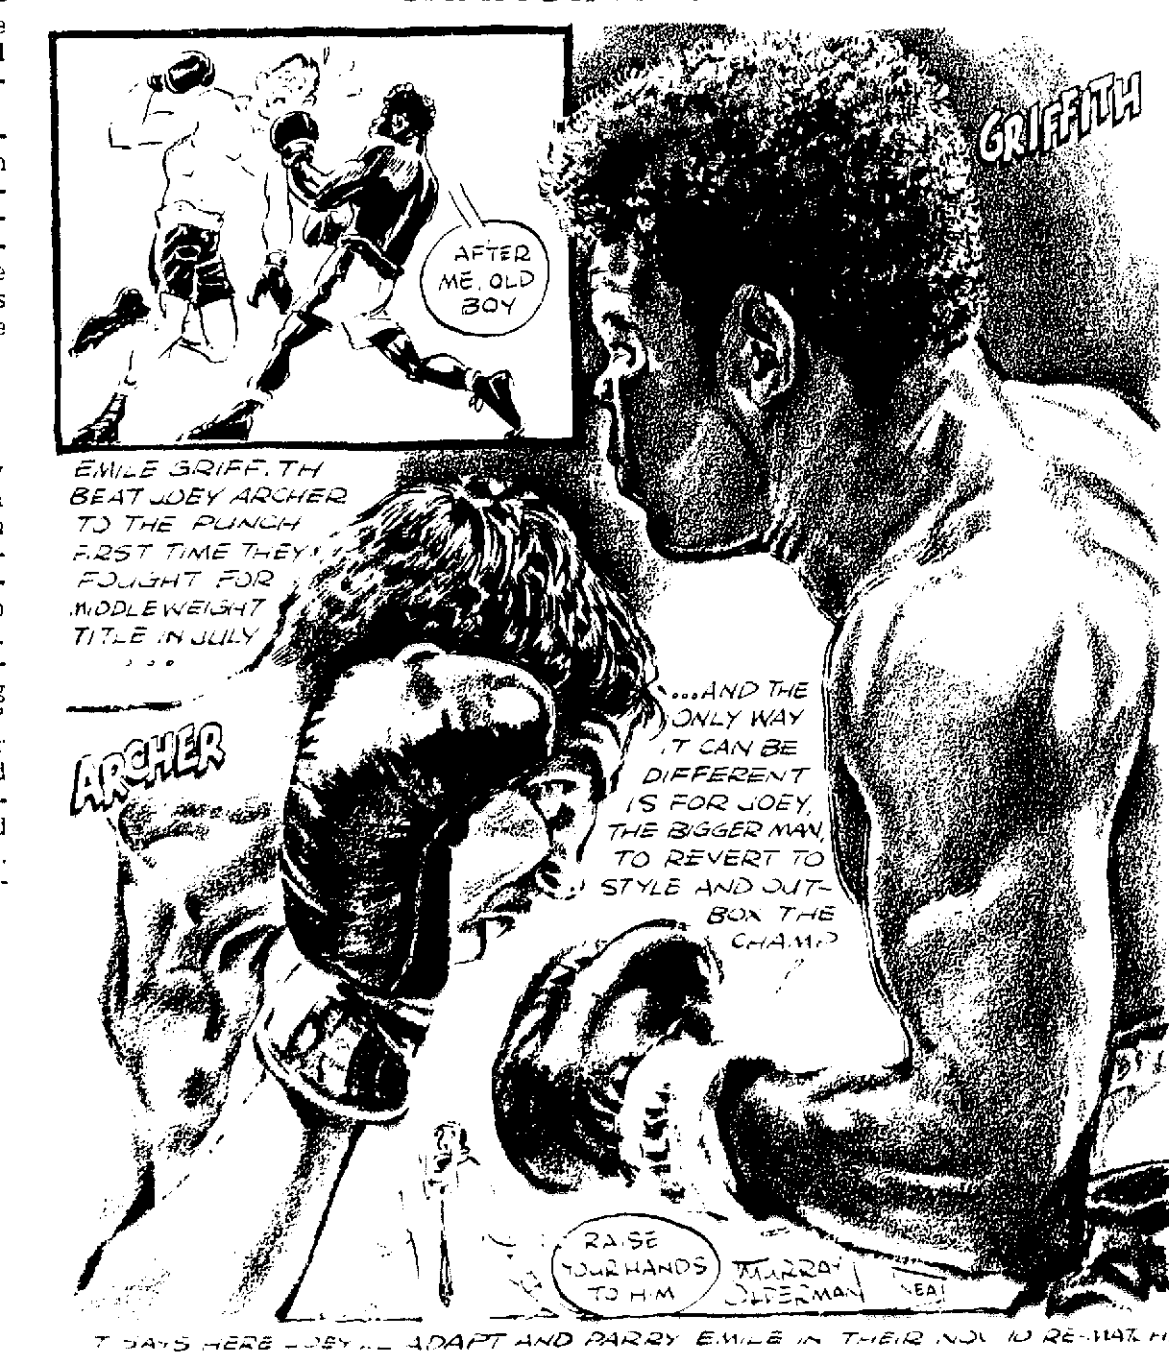

After being exposed to Hollywood, Colt corner back Lenny Lyles already has some film work offers. And Tony Lorick is prodding the producers for a shot. "I'm handsomer than Jimmy Brown," he claims. "I'm a better actor. And besides my first name's Italian."

Two key members of the Baltimore team, which is closing in on Green Bay again for a repeat of their '65 showdown, are Jimmy Orr, the tricky flanker, and Billy Ray Smith, the hustling defensive tackle. Both are small for their jobs (Orr looks like the club accountant, and though Billy Ray's no midget, his 245 pounds don't compare to other tackles' specifications). Both started their career with the Los Angeles Rams. Both were traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers in the same deal (for a No. 3 draft choice, which has to be one of the biggest bargains ever). And both were shunted to the Colts as a result of a minor rebellion in the Steeler ranks against erstwhile quarterback Bobby Layne. . . . Both also spin stories with thick Southern drawls that mask their off-field vocations—they're rising young stock brokers.

The Matte family is pro all the way. Tom is the half-back of the Colts, and young brother Bruce, the quarterback of Miami of Ohio, is a pro prospect in both football and baseball. Joe Matte, the sire of the clan, was an all-pro hockey performer with the Chicago Black Hawks.

Between you'n' me, every coach I've talked to in the NFL who has seen service in the younger AFL, and that includes the new defensive assistant of the Colts, Chuck Noll (ex-San Diego), says the older league is in for a surprise in the forthcoming Super Bowl matchup of the two leagues if it takes the AFL champ lightly.

CHANGING STYLE

POISED ON THE MONTEREY PENINSULA, Mercury's new Cougar is a sleek—and powerful, with optional equipment—"specialty car." Mercury folks expect a nice slice of the market.

Hunting in 'Cougar Country'

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CARMEL, Calif. (NEA)—The Ford Motor Co. doesn't mess around. When it has what it considers big news, it announces the news in the proper atmosphere.

The other week the Lincoln-Mercury division brought 100 auto editors to the Monterey peninsula for several days in "Cougar Country." The point was to see and drive L-M's four-wheeled Cougar and then, of course, to tell the world about it.

As an extra added attraction, the Mercury moguls announced that the division has returned to racing. Big stars Dan Gurney and Parnelli Jones will pilot zippy Cougars in a number of races next year. And Ford entries at Le Mans, L-M reminded us, will also be Mercury entries.

Whether all this racing-oriented activity will sell more cars is hard to tell. But Paul Lorenz, L-M general manager, did allow that while the Cougar is still in short supply, preliminary sales figures show that the new car is selling well.

To compare first-year Cougar sales with that of little brother Mustang is wrong for a number of reasons. Cougar is priced several hundred dollars higher. And when Mustang was premiered, it had virtually no competition. Things have changed.

General Motors, apparently caught with its market research down in 1964, has finally delivered the Camaro which, with its sleek looks and hot performance, is destined to pull sales away from Mustang and, probably, Cougar.

Chrysler, which really missed the market with its original, bulb-backed Barracuda, now has a redesigned car available in fast-back, hardtop and convertible models. The old 'Cuda has been Italianized and the result is a winner of a car with performance to match.

Waiting in the wings is Pontiac's "specialty car" entry, said to be called the Firebird. This, it would seem, is GM's answer to the Cougar. Sales figures will be interesting to watch.

In all cases, the automakers are directing their appeal to what Robert Anderson, Chrysler-Plymouth general manager, calls the "youth market—large numbers of young, knowledgeable people who are forming buying habits today which can last a lifetime."

He predicted that the majority of Barracuda buyers will be under 35 years of age and that one in five would be under 25. Ford and General Motors would probably agree that this is also the market for their specialty cars. All, naturally, expect a reasonable amount of sales slopover in older age groups.

The auto editors gathered at sun-kissed Carmel, however, weren't particularly interested in shares-of-market predictions. They were there to drive the Cougar.

Mercury had 50 hardtops on hand for testing and arranged a rally of sorts along the peninsula's beautiful coastal highways. It was a poker rally (draw cards at five check-points; best hand wins) which didn't rely on the skill of pilot or navigator. The editors had fun, nonetheless.

Generally speaking, the Cougar with the standard engine (289-cubic-inch V-8; 200 hp at 4,400 rpm) handled suitably but lacked the expected zip (0-60 in 10.3 seconds with four-speed manual box).

But with the 390-cubic-inch engine option, wow! This Cougar has real claws and runs from zero to 60 in 7.2 seconds. Cornering is improved considerably with the performance handling package which includes wide oval nylon cord tires, low back-pressure exhausts, tighter suspension and a larger diameter stabilizer bar. You'll recognize this powerhouse by the GT chrome gimcracks on the sides.

The Cougar doesn't look like a fat Mustang or pushed-in Thunderbird, either. It has that long, long hood and concealed headlights with a short rear deck and rear fender hop-ups. A sharp cat.

SPINOFFS: At the recent London Motor Show at Earl's Court, Triumph unveiled a new sports car which, before too long, may find its way to the New World. It's a classy fastback covering a Spitfire chassis with one important difference—the reliable Triumph TR-4A engine is under the hood.

day to honor the very large memory of Theodore Roosevelt, who was named Sportsman of the Century by a special commission formed by Winchester-Western.

The commission's selection of the late president for the honor is not believed to have been a difficult one. In fact, one member of the commission disclosed afterwards, "Teddy was a shoe-in."

For a man whose name heads the list of nearly every outdoors activity in almost every land, Teddy Roosevelt was born in the unlikelyst of areas. On Oct. 27, 1858—exactly 108 years prior to the Regency Hotel scene—Teddy Roosevelt, sportsman of the century, was born in a brick house at 28 East 20th, smack dab in the middle of New York City. Right from the beginning Teddy had one big strike against his ever being awarded such an honor. The closest thing to wilderness was a one-and-a-half acre private plot called Gramercy Park, which still stands a block away from Roosevelt's birthplace.

Nevertheless, Roosevelt was taking taxidermy lessons when he was 13 years old, and the next year he was hunting through Egypt, Syria and Greece with his first rifle, a present from his father.

After being graduated from Harvard University, Teddy Roosevelt began moving west—all the time hunting and fishing and forming an idea that one day would sink into this land, take root and reverse the course of history.

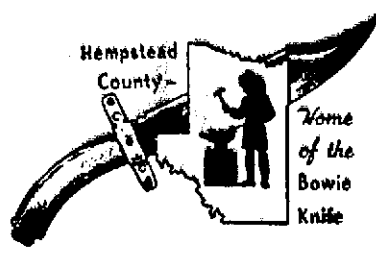

Until the man with the big stick came along, men like John Muir, Henry David Thoreau, and even Walt Whitman derided in their silvered prose the waste being laid to the land. Roosevelt did something about the carnage. He developed, applied and enforced the first set of conservation laws.

EVEN PRESIDENT Johnson, who exercises the greatest of power, knows when to stay out of the way of a tough guy, like this big bull buffalo on the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex. Republicans are supposed to be represented by elephants, but Mr. Johnson wasn't taking any chances on the buffalo's politics.

U.S. Considers Antimissile System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says the Soviet Union is deploying an antimissile system and the United States is considering whether to set up one.

The cost of such a system designed to fend off long-range ballistic missiles would be enormous, ranging perhaps as high as $30 billion.

McNamara made his statement, believed to be his first public comment on the Soviet defense system, to newsmen Thursday at President Johnson's Texas ranch. He said he and the President had discussed the antimissile missile system and will have further talks about them.

The defense chief stressed there is "no question of our capability to penetrate Soviet defenses with missiles and aircraft" at this time.

He said the Soviet Union started laying out an antimissile missile (ABM) defense some time ago and "we must assume" for planning purposes that it will be effective when it is fully activated.

The United States has such a system — known as Nike X — in the works but has withheld a decision to begin erecting the necessary interceptor missile sites, radar and associated command and control equipment.

The huge cost — ranging from $4 billion to as much as $30 billion, depending on its depth and sophistication — has been a factor in the delaying of any decision to establish an antimissile system.

And McNamara is known to have reservations about such a system's effectiveness.

McNamara said the Nike X, along with the Soviet ABM deployment and the developing Chinese nuclear threat were all part of his discussions with the President on the 1968 defense budget.

He said it is "much too early" to set up a missile defense geared against the type of attack Red China might be capable of launching against the United States in the next few years.

Despite Red China's recent successful test of a nuclear-tipped missile, McNamara believes the Chinese Communists will be no significant nuclear threat until around the mid 1970s.

But his comment that the United States "must assume" the Soviet antimissile system will be effective indicated serious consideration is being given to proceeding with deployment of Nike X next year.

In the area of U.S. offensive systems, McNamara said he expects to send Congress a recommendation for outfitting the nation's Polar submarines with an improved atomic missile known as Poseidon.

The Rotary Club of Hope will join with more than 12,500 other Rotary Clubs in 133 countries in next week's world-wide observance of "The Rotary Foundation Week," Nov. 13-19. This year's celebration marks the beginning of a year-long observance vanced by rotary clubs everywhere of the 50th anniversary of the Rotary Foundation.

The objective of the Foundation is to further understanding and friendly relations between peoples of different nations. Supported by contributions from Rotary clubs and Rotarians around the world, the Foundation received more than $1 million last year.

Since 1947, when a program for graduate study abroad was begun, the Rotary Foundation has awarded 2,300 Rotary Fellowships at a cost of more than $6 million. Recent awards for the 1967-68 academic year totaled more than 160 and represent $500,000 in Fellowships.

To enlarge its work in the field of international relations, the Foundation recently added two activities to its program: Awards for Technical Training to enable young men to improve their skills by studying in another country, and Group Study Exchanges of teams of young business and professional men from different countries.

It began at the 1917 Rotary International Convention in Atlanta, Georgia, when R.I. President Arch Klumph suggested the establishment of a Rotary endowment fund "for the purpose of doing good in the world, in charitable, educational or other avenues of community progress."

The force of this idea was demonstrated a few weeks later when the Rotary Club of Kansas City, Missouri, made the first contribution of $25.50, and by 1955-56 Rotary Clubs made a contribution of more than $1,100.00 during that one year alone.

Cecil Cupp, Jr., Governor of Rotary District 617 in which Hope is found, reported to Paul Klipsch, President of the Rotary Club, that Rotary Fellows from this District in the last 4 years were Mary F. Cox, William K. Hedrick, and Lee B. Spencer. Miss Cox, a native of Morrilton, appeared as a guest of the Hope Club after her return from India, where she studied. They have returned with an understanding of the peoples of the countries where they have studied, exemplifying one of Rotary's mottoes, "The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service." The Hope Rotary Club is glad to have had a part in sending these students abroad.

Though Springfield is not in District 617, it was a Rotary Fellow from there who provided a much-welcomed touch of home for Bill Butler of Hope when he was in Cairo, Egypt, last year. Bill was working and traveling in Africa, and in Cairo he was happy to meet Rudy Moore of Springfield, who was studying at the American University of Cairo as a Rotary Fellow.

Their meeting was enjoyable, of course, but for the Hope traveler it was also enlightening in regard to the benefits the United States receives from a Rotary Fellow. In the first place, the student is not sent abroad by Rotary to study unless he or she is an excellent representative of our country; therefore, the American image is greatly improved wherever the Rotary Fellow is. Also, the student returns to this country with a deeper insight of the country and the people where he has been living.

A Rotary Fellow is an ambassador-without-a-portfolio and a good one.

Navigation Aids Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Thurston Morton, R-Ky., said Thursday that completion of the Arkansas River navigation project should enable Arkansas to compete with other states for new industry.

Morton said the potential for development of the Arkansas River Valley was similar to what has been done along the Ohio River Valley. He told the National Waterways Conference that it was hard to buy an industrial site along the Ohio, whose river traffic tonnage he said exceeded that of the Rhine.

Morton also attacked a proposal by Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler to impose tolls on users of inland waterways.

Professors Listed as Classroom Tyrants Are Usually Henpecked

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

College professors may be tyrants in the classroom but they are usually more henpecked at home than other husbands. The least henpecked males are plumbers, house painters, and hair dressers — probably because they deal with women all the time and have few illusions about them.

Nothing is duller than a sexy book written by a hack writer in the obvious hopes of making a million dollars from it.

A woman who overprides herself on her housekeeping is a museum curator at heart. A house that is eternally neat has an embalmed quality, and is about as unsexily restful as the viewing room in a funeral home. Life has to have some disorder to be interesting.

The surest way to wreck an enemy, if he is a poor man, is to give him three expensive gifts he can't afford — such as a $750 watch, a $1,500 color television and hi-fi set, and a Rolls-Royce. He will die rather than give them up, and work himself to death trying to meet the upkeep and repair bills.

Guys who wear colorful bird feathers at the side of their hats are usually lousy lovers — and also chronically overdue in their payments to the finance company.

Gemini 12 To Snap Photos Of Eclipse

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Using a substitute flight plan, the Gemini 12 astronauts raced today toward a 13-second peek at a total solar eclipse and a 2½-hour "space stand" by pilot Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin Jr.

Aldrin and command pilot James A. Lovell Jr. had to reshape their plans Friday night because of a faulty fuel pump in their Agena target satellite.

Some fast juggling by Mission Control Center and a few hectic minutes of maneuvering by the astronauts jockeyed Gemini 12 into position to snap the first in-flight photographs of an eclipse at 7:49 a.m. (EST) today.

The pilots were to arise about 6:30 a.m. to begin preparations. As Gemini 12 zipped about 170 miles above Peru, the astronauts were to aim cameras out the spacecraft windows in an effort to capture the dramatic phenomena on film.

Lovell and Aldrin were to take movies of the entire trip by the moon across the sun's disc — a passage lasting 1 hour 57 minutes on earth, but only about a minute at Gemini 12's 17,500-mile-an-hour speed.

Good pictures from Gemini 12 would be a bonus for scientists who had given up hope for the experiment when the launching date slipped from Wednesday until Friday.

Had Lovell and Aldrin blasted off on schedule Wednesday, Aldrin had planned to open his hatch and, wearing a protective visor, was to snap ultra-violet and other photos that would not be degraded by the spacecraft window.

Because of the launch postponement, this could not be worked into the flight plan without considerable re-arranging, so the experiment was dropped.

But the Agena problem Friday night resulted in another realignment. It prevented the astronauts from firing the Agena engine to shoot Gemini 12 from a 185-mile to a 460-mile-high orbit.

Nursing Homes Under Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Welfare Commissioner A. J. (Red) Moss said Thursday federal inspectors were well along in their Civil Rights Act survey of Arkansas nursing homes and hospitals.

Moss said that "as far as we know everything is all right" in regard to whether the nursing homes are in compliance with non-discrimination provisions of the Act.

In effect, Moss, constant critic of Johnson on the war in Viet Nam, told the President he would be a potential disaster for Oregon's Democratic candidates if he went there.

This was ironic since Morse himself refused to support the Democratic candidate for the Senate, Rep. Robert B. Duncan, a Johnson supporter on Viet Nam, who was running against Oregon's Gov. Mark O. Hatfield.

Morse said that if Johnson visited Oregon "He will probably help elect Hatfield," Hatfield won anyway, although Johnson never went near Oregon. But New York's Sen. Robert F. Kennedy did and pitched for Duncan.

But, for that matter, so did Johnson's vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey.

Before Johnson went to Asia it was pretty well known a number of Democrats might lose.

President Sees Tough Row Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept mum a while about Tuesday's election, as if to digest the result in which Republicans were the gainers, but finally admitted things would be a little tougher for him now.

This doesn't mean he has become a reticent politician. In this year's election campaigns he was rather more absent than reticent. It was the absence which saved him from some possible embarrassment later.

His decision to go to Asia in mid-October as the campaigns heated up, instead of spinning around the country to plug for Democrats in trouble, raised the two obvious questions:

Was the trip necessary then or couldn't it have waited until after the elections? Or was he afraid that, if he did campaign for those who lost, some or much or all of the blame would be dumped on him?

In fact, Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat, warned Johnson to keep his nose out of Oregon politics. Morse's warning came while the President was still in Asia and there was the possibility that when he returned a week before elections he might campaign.

Johnson removed himself from any campaigning when he did come back and announced he needed surgery.

In effect, Morse, constant critic of Johnson on the war in Viet Nam, told the President he would be a potential disaster for Oregon's Democratic candidates if he went there.

This was ironic since Morse himself refused to support the Democratic candidate for the Senate, Rep. Robert B. Duncan, a Johnson supporter on Viet Nam, who was running against Oregon's Gov. Mark O. Hatfield.

Federal Panel Puts Georgia On Deadline

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The state of Georgia has been put on deadline to find a legal solution to choosing a new governor — other than allowing the legislature to choose between Republican Howard H. Callaway and Democrat Lester G. Maddox.

A three-judge federal panel said Friday that if the state fails to present a plan by Nov. 25, the court will provide the remedy.

This raised the possibility of a runoff election under a 1964 state law within the next month.

Neither candidate received a majority of votes, required by the Georgia constitution for victory, because of a strong write-in vote for former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall.

Arnall, a moderate Democrat, was defeated by Maddox, a segregationist, in the Democratic primary.

The formal court order was delayed until next Tuesday, but the judges made it clear that the court would not allow the General Assembly to decide the deadlocked race.

The judges, commenting from the bench, said a legislative election of a governor would violate the U.S. Constitution and the Supreme Court decisions on one man, one vote.

With all of the state's 1,893 precincts reported but with an undetermined number of absentee ballots still uncounted, Maddox had 447,426 votes, Callaway 445,832 and Arnall 57,699.

After the court ruled, Maddox said he had no prediction of the outcome of the court action and would not comment until the final verdict was in.

Earlier, Maddox advocated an election by the legislature which has more than four-fifths Democrats.

Callaway urged another election "so the people can decide."

Draft Lottery Opposed by SS Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. Daniel O. Omer, deputy director of Selective Service, reiterated today the agency's opposition to a draft lottery — a system Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says would help eliminate deficiencies in the present procedure.

Omer, in an address prepared for a national conference on the draft, said Congress intended that the selection of draftees be made by judgment rather than lot.

Only Thursday, McNamara was quoted in an interview published in the Harvard Crimson as calling current draft methods unsuitable.

"We draft the oldest first," McNamara said. "It's never clear exactly at what age one will be subject to the draft. This makes very difficult the planning of one's life."

Saying every 19-year-old should be subjected to a draft lottery, McNamara proposed that in case of deferment, the name of the registrant would go back in the pool upon expiration of the deferred period.

Taking part in the opening session of a conference called by the American Veterans Committee, Omer said the idea of the lottery is to cure the inequity of deferment.

"If we exercise our judgment to defer a part of the group, and subject to a lottery only those who are left, we cannot even contend that we are equally fair to all, and we have destroyed the purpose of the lottery, which is to place upon everyone equal liability and availability for military service, with selection left to the chance of the draw," Omer said.

Discussing the system's philosophy, Omer said: "The burden of proof is always on the registrant who believes he should be deferred or exempted from military service."

Turning to the student deferment policy, Omer said: "We believe that, generally speaking, the national interest would be better served if men who are going to college could complete their education before being considered for military service."

Will Contest the Election

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark.

(AP) — State Rep. Orville D. Pendergrass of Baxter County, the only incumbent Republican in the Arkansas House, said Thursday he would contest Tuesday's election in which he apparently was defeated.

Pendergrass, who trailed Mrs. Vada Shield, a Democrat, by 60 votes in unofficial returns, said he was investigating voting and counting of ballots in several precincts and was looking into the way ballots were handled in the absentee box.

He carried Baxter County by 535 votes but Mrs. Shield won Fulton County by 573 votes. Pendergrass said he would file his suit in Fulton County. The two counties make up District 5.

Suit Would Set Aside Guidelines

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Dermott School District filed suit Thursday in U. S. District Court asking the court to overturn the 1966 school desegregation guidelines and declare them unlawful.

The suit seeks to enjoin John W. Gardner, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and U. S. Education Commissioner Harold Howe from continuing to defer action on applications for federal assistance by the school district.

The suit said Howe had written the school district June 19 saying federal help for the district's new programs was being deferred because of non-compliance with the 1966 guidelines. The petition said Howe refused to rescind his decision although the district submitted a compliance form June 15.

The suit asks the court to declare the conduct of Gardner and Howe "arbitrary, unreasonable, capricious and unlawful."

It seeks to restrain the office from withholding federal funds from schools that do not conform to the guidelines.

The suit said Gardner and Howe were in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 by requiring a racial balance in assigning students and faculty and staff.

It also said the two had violated the act by deferring action on applications for federal funds without any express findings on record or without granting the school district a hearing, by laying down rules that are inconsistent with the Civil Rights Act and by taking or threatening action that results in a general deferment of funds.

The district said Howe had threatened to terminate federal funds for existing programs.

One Credit Card, One (Big) Worry

We aren't so sure that we're going to care at all for the world of the "universal automated credit card." That's what some of the nation's top bankers think is coming soon. Cash is already outdated, they say, and even checks are becoming obsolete.

The first thing that bothers us is that we have reservations about becoming a mere cipher. In this universal system of tomorrow, everybody will simply have a number and a single credit card. This card can be used to buy groceries, borrow money, pay taxes and what not. We already have a nightmarish vision of losing this passport to Utopia and ending up in the poorhouse. Finders keepers, losers weepers? You ain't seen nothin' yet.

Another thing that bothers us is staying in balance at the bank. They talk about the cashless and checkless society. But what about the balanceless society? It's bad enough trying to stay ahead of the game on the check stubs. With the temptation of sticking your credit card into every slot that seems invitingly, all may be lost and then some.

We are probably worrying about things that will work themselves out. The bankers tell us, anyway, that there's not much we can do about resisting this development. But we admit to occasional thoughts now about juggling our money in an old sock behind a loose brick. At least when our number comes up, we'll have nothing to lose but what's on hand—Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

Stolen Credit Cards

Now that credit cards are accepted for almost any kind of goods and services (one young man proved she could live 30 days on credit cards alone), these cards have become choice black market items for crime syndicates. Waiters in restaurants are said to have become key figures in a $20 million-a-year racket. National Better Business Bureau placed the racket's take at $10 million annually and industry officials say this figure is extremely conservative.

Cards, stated Insider's Newsletter, are most frequently stolen by waiters, who simply "forget" to return them to drunken or sentiment-minded customers. The waiters sell them immediately to middlemen, who are the syndicate operators. The middlemen simply sell them to small-time crooks for about $200. — Monroe (La.) Morning World.

9-Year-Old Girl Runs the Household

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Smollen is only 9 years old, but for the past five weeks she has been acting as the mother for her four brothers and two sisters and running the household.

The Smollens' mother, Theresa Smollen, 30, disappeared Oct. 1. Since then, Margaret has been in charge of household chores in the family's $45-a-month, three-room tenement in the Bronx.

Her chores include cooking for the father, William, 48, who works for a brick masonry firm, and caring for the dog. Her brothers and sisters range in age from 10 months to 11 years.

Mrs. Smollen vanished after leaving the home for Fordham hospital. The hospital told her husband it had no record of her leaving there.

Smollen said the Welfare Department offered to take the children off his hands and put them in foster homes, but he refused.

Seller Sees a White Backlash

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat who is dean of the House Representatives, says the white backlash was responsible for the election of Republican Ronald Reagan as governor of California and the defeat of Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois.
